MEMORANDUM AND ORDER

Fullam, Sr. J.

November , 2001

Defendants have filed a Motion for Clarification of the discovery Order I entered on October 26, 2001. That Order, which disposed of various pending discovery motions, was intended to provide a broad outline covering what is expected of counsel in the conduct of discovery in this litigation, namely, that they will avoid the nit-picking quarreling which has characterized some of their discovery efforts, and will fulfill their recently-expressed agreements to be cooperative. The Order was also intended to discourage further questionable applications to the Court, seeking to impose substantial burdens upon opposing parties, and also to insure that information and materials genuinely needed for trial purposes would be forthcoming.

There is nothing in the motion for clarification to suggest that a change in the October 26, 2001 Order is appropriate. The only specific issue raised by the motion for clarification is whether defendants will be required to produce a privilege log; but it is clear that no privilege log need be produced, inasmuch as no privileges are being asserted with respect to the documents in question.

An Order follows.
