MEMORANDUM

STENGEL, J.

April 18, 2006

Following the deaths of his elderly parents, James D. Schneller filed this action pro se against several defendants who he claims are legally responsible. On February 16, 2006, Schneller initiated this suit by filing a motion to proceed in forma pauperis. This case is substantially similar and related to two other cases recently filed in this court by James D. Schneller, civil docket numbers 06-545, and 06-1545. I will dismiss this case for the same reasons as I dismissed the two other cases.

I. BACKGROUND

Plaintiff James D. Schneller brings this suit against Crozer Chester Medical Center, t/b/a Taylor Hospital and Crozer Keystone Health System; Herman McGill, M.D.; Suburban Pulmonary Medicine; Daniel Dupont, D.O.; E. Heffelfinger, D.O.; Gerald Meis, D.O.; Gurpreet Kockar, M.D.; Lalitha Gurijala, M.D.; Marjorie Zitomer; Richard Schneller; T. Sergeant Pepper, Esq.; and Hepburn, Wilcox, Hamilton and Putman, LLP. In a separate, but seemingly related case, Schneller filed a Motion to Proceed in forma

pauperis on February 3, 2006, naming Prospect Park Nursing and Rehabilitation Center; its owners and employees, including Monica Rendell, R.N.; “Fran Doe,” R.N.; Herman McGill, M.D.; Suburban Pulmonary Medicine; Daniel Dupont D.O.; E. Heffelfinger D.O.; Gerald Meis, D.O.; Marjorie Zitomer; Richard Schneller; T. Sergeant Pepper, Esq.; and Hepburn, Wilcox, Hamilton and Putnam, LLP. In a third seemingly related case, Schneller again filed a Motion to Proceed in forma pauperis on April 10, 2006, naming Fox Subacute at Clara Burke; Gary Drizin, M.D.; Debbie McCoy, R.N.; Marjorie Zitomer; G. Richard Schneller; T. Sergeant Pepper, Esq.; Hepburn, Willcox, Hamilton and Putnam, LLP; Pennsylvania Department of Aging, Department of Health, Division of Nursing Care Facilities, Norristown Field Office; Gary Layman; Judith Folan; Samuel J. Trueblood, Esq.; and Trueblood & Amacher, LLP. To date, Schneller has filed nine (9) outstanding motions in his three cases, all in complete disregard of the court’s prior orders denying his in forma pauperis status. The genesis of these cases appear to be the medical and legal services rendered to Schneller’s parents during the last few months of their lives.

II. IN FORMA PAUPERIS STANDARD

28 U.S.C. § 1915 provides a two-step process for reviewing in forma pauperis petitions. First, the court “may authorize the commencement . . . [of a] civil [suit] . . . , without prepayment of fees or security therefor, by a person who submits an affidavit that includes a statement of all assets such [person] prisoner possesses that the person is unable to pay such fees or give security therefor.” 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(1); Urrutia v. Harrisburg County Police Dep’t, 91 F.3d 451, 455 (3d Cir. 1996). When determining if the person has met the § 1915(a)(1) standard for poverty, courts will generally look to whether the person is employed, the person’s annual salary, and any other property or assets the person may possess. See Azubuko v. Riordan, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6559 at * 3 (D. Del. 2005) (Robinson, J.). If the court concludes the person has met the requisite pauper standard, the court still must dismiss the case if it is frivolous or brought for an improper purpose. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2).

Whether to grant or deny an in forma pauperis petition lies within the sound discretion of the trial court. See Jones v. Zimmerman, 752 F.2d 76, 78 (3d Cir. 1985). However, “the purpose of 28 U.S.C. § 1915 is to provide an entre, not a barrier, to the indigent seeking relief in the federal court.” Id. at 79 (quoting Souder v. McGuire, 516 F.2d 820, 823 (3d Cir. 1975)). Further, “it would be contrary to the spirit of that statute ‘to force a litigant to abandon what may be a meritorious claim in order to spare himself complete destitution.’” Jones, 752 F.2d at 79 (quoting Adkins v. Dupont Co., 335 U.S. 331, 340 (1948)).

Under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e), a court may dismiss a complaint as frivolous if it is “based on an indisputably meritless legal theory.” Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 327 (1989). In this case, Schneller’s complaints are indisputably meritless because this court lacks jurisdiction over them. Khamba v. Verizon (Bell Atl.), 2004 U.S. Dist.

LEXIS 14662, * 1-2 (E.D. Pa. 2004) (Schiller, J.) (dismissing § 1983 cause of action as frivolous for lack of jurisdiction after granting in forma pauperis petition).

III. DISCUSSION

Consistent with the statutory requirement, Schneller has submitted multiple affidavits attesting to his poverty. According to the affidavits, Schneller is the beneficiary of a trust. Schneller's trust pays his rent, utilities, medical insurance, and a weekly living stipend of $100 per week. Schneller is unemployed, has no dependants and receives food stamps. Further, Schneller has been granted in forma pauperis status for two 2004 cases filed in the Montgomery County Court of Common Pleas, one 2004 case filed in Chester County Court of Common Pleas, one 2004 case filed in the Delaware County Court of Common Pleas, and one 2003 case filed in the Delaware County Court of Common Pleas.<sup>1</sup> According to Schneller's affidavit, he has been denied in forma pauperis status for multiple cases filed in Chester County, including the Orphans Division. Almost all of the money Schneller receives directly from the trust goes towards paying his postage, court costs, copying and filing fees for his on-going cases.

Based upon that information, the court denied Schneller's in forma pauperis petitions by specifically rejecting his argument that he met the statute's poverty threshold because all of the money he receives directly from his trust goes towards paying his litigation expenses for cases in other courts, including the cases in which he was denied in forma pauperis status. Today, this court again affirms its prior orders and further elaborates that even if the court were to grant Schneller’s petitions for in forma pauperis status, the three cases would be dismissed as frivolous because the court lacks jurisdiction over the claims.

According to Schneller, jurisdiction for the three cases is pursuant to both 28 U.S.C. § 1331 and 28 U.S.C. § 1332. Neither sections’ requirements has been met.

A. The Court Lacks Diversity Jurisdiction

28 U.S.C. § 1332 provides the District Court with jurisdiction over citizens of different states when the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000. 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a). Further, courts have traditionally interpreted the statutory language “between . . . citizens of different States” to require complete diversity between all plaintiffs and all defendants. Strawbridge v. Curtiss, 7 U.S. 267, 3 Cranch 267 (1806); Caterpillar Inc. v. Lewis, 519 U.S. 61, 68 (1996).

In these cases, Schneller and most of the defendants are Pennsylvania citizens. Schneller’s cases therefore lack complete diversity.

B. No Federal Question

Schneller states that this court has jurisdiction over all of the defendants based upon violations of the Fourteenth Amendment, the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention Act (21 U.S.C. §§ 802 et seq.), 42 U.S.C. § 1983, 42 C.F.R. § 483.10, 42 C.F.R. § 483.15, 42 C.F.R. § 483.25, and 42 C.F.R. § 14402. However, at no point within Schneller's three long, and in many instances repetitive, complaints is an arguable federal claim alleged. At best, Schneller's complaints allege state law claims for tort and breach of contract arising from the medical treatment received by Schneller's parents, the legal services performed for Schneller, and the disposition of Schneller's deceased mother's estate. Accordingly, this court is without jurisdiction to hear any of these claims.

IV. CONCLUSION

Based upon Schneller's financial situation, and this court's lack of jurisdiction over any of the claims alleged in his multiple complaints, I will dismiss all three of Schneller's cases pending in this court. An appropriate order follows.
